Great British Bake off!

We had a super day at the Jubilee celebrations. Photos and write up to follow. You might also see us in the Lancaster Guardian. Watch this space!

Thank you to all parents, carers, and friends for supporting the children in creating their culinary delights. It's been quite a mission designing and making; but the staff and children have truly revealed their wonderful creativity, and also bravery. Not everyone loves to cook and bake! Thank you to Mrs Knight and to Katie Lambert for organising. For the Mayor for attended, and making us feel EXTRA special, and to all the staff and children, for being generally; awesome!

Parent questionnaire

Thankyou to all those parents who have completed the parent questionnaire. The final date for submission is Friday 3rd June. We will collate all the responses after this date – looking at themes. It's important we build on the strengths we have in school, but also address those areas for improvement.

FOSS news

It was fantastic to see so many people at the FOSS meeting last Thursday. We have a list of things we want to do for school. Starting first with another grounds day. Are there any budding painters out there, that might be able to help on Saturday 11th June?

Young Voices

Oh my goodness, what a day we had in Manchester. Singing and dancing our hearts out to The Beatles, REM, the Lion King soundtrack too! Please see our Facebook page for photos, and the play list too.

Class allocation September

We will inform parents, carers and families of class allocation very soon after the half term holidays. Please be patient as we look at the needs of children, interventions, provision mapping, staffing and the physical environment. There's lots to consider.

Message from Miss Sanderson

I just want to say thank you for looking after me this half term. To be honest (and this may be a surprise to some of you) but I am actually a bit of an introvert... Pensive and reflective, and happiest alone in the hills, or in the water. It's how I protect my mental health. This term has been so busy, BUT I have gained so much joy and energy working with a great team, supportive community, and dynamic, creative and wonderful children. You really have brought out the best in me! I only hope I can bring the best out in you. This half term has been weeks' of 'news'. New systems, new routines, new relationships. I have loved it all, and I know I am going to love leading this wonderful little school. There will be challenges along the way, but with clear communication, a listening ear, hard work and determination, I know we will achieve great things together. Now, I am going to reintroduce myself to my mountain bike and try and have a couple of days off. I pray you all will be able to do too. Thank you to you all.

Church News
